

CALL FOR PAPERS

The History Graduate Student Association at Louisiana State University is pleased to announce its sixth annual Graduate History Conference, to take place on March 20 and 21, 2015. The conference is an opportunity for graduate student scholars to present original research and receive critical feedback from peers and experts in their respective fields. The keynote speaker is Yanna Yannakakis, Professor of History at Emory University and author of The Art of Being In-Between: Native Intermediaries, Indian Identity, and Local Rule in Colonial Oaxaca.

We invite submissions for panels or individual papers from graduate students at all levels of study. Proposals may cover all fields and approaches of historical scholarship and span all chronological and geographical boundaries.

PAPER PROPOSALS MUST BE SUBMITTED NO LATER THAN DECEMBER 15, 2014.

Please limit proposals to 300 words. Paper submissions should include a working title and brief description of the central argument, as well as a copy of the scholar's curriculum vitae. For panel proposals, please include a 200-word description of the panel topic in addition to the individual paper abstracts and vitae.

If selected, participants must submit a final paper by February 25, 2015.

Please send proposals and questions to hgsa@tigers.lsu.edu or visit our website at http://www.lsu.edu/student_organizations/hgsa/conference.html.
